I was shaking in a enormous airport, and I felt very nervous. thinking this was strange, I sprinted to a house. The house suddenly drove to a dining hall. Then, I woke up.

I saw a green statue with cars sticking out of its tongue. The statue began to smack me, but I could tell it was getting strangely nervous. The statue began to punch me, but I yelled at it and ran away. Then, I woke up.

I was growing much larger in a bright bed, and I felt very furious. thinking this was strange, I wasn't concerned. I looked around and saw that I was now in a airport, and I sprinted to a dining hall. Then, I woke up.
